Strategies for Interprofessional Education

We invite submissions to present in the ECE session on interprofessional education (IPE).

In June, 2012, the NATA Board of Directors approved a recommendation that IPE should be a required component in professional and post-professional education programs in athletic training. How do we get there?

This session will identify the benefits of IPE and strategies to integrate IPE into athletic training education at all levels. Interprofessional (IP) opportunities and socialization are critical features to the professional education of healthcare providers and are especially relevant in today's healthcare environment in which no providers practice in isolation. Athletic trainers have historically practiced interprofessionally, but that has not been intentionally addressed in professional and post-professional education programs.

This session will begin with an overview of IPE and its importance in athletic training professional education. The second half of the session will feature multiple brief presentations (7 – 9 minutes long) on specific strategies for IPE. What are you doing to facilitate IPE at your institution?

Specifics:

- Complete and submit a proposal using the online form, including a brief (<500 word) description of your presentation.
- Deadline for submission: March 15, 2013
- Submissions will be de-identified for the peer-review selection process.
- Presenters will be notified by April 8, 2013.
- Presentations will occur in Las Vegas at the National Athletic Trainers' Association Annual Symposium on Tuesday, June 25, 2013 from 8:15 - 10:15 a.m.
- Presenters are responsible for all expenses relating to attendance at the 2013 conference.
- Posters that are accepted for presentation at this conference are not eligible for presentation in this session
